East Walworth Green Links

Created by the 5 parks friends groups, the East Walworth Green Links is an alternative way of travelling between The Elephant & Castle and Burgess Park, visiting the smaller parks on the way. For those on foot or bike, and not forgetting the wildlife, the green link offers safety, quietness, greenery, cleaner air and relaxed travel.

Try it – you will be amazed.

Volunteering:

We always need volunteers to help keep the parks healthy and looking great. Please get in touch if you can offer some time or could look after a small part of your local park.

Contact details for each park are referenced overleaf.

Southwark Council Parks Department

The parks team works with the local community groups to oversee the day to day running of the parks, the improvement of facilities on offer and increase amenity and biodiversity value. All parks hold the 'Green Flag Award' 2016

East Walworth Green Links

A quiet, safe and green way to travel between the parks in East Walworth

Elephant Park

Phase 1 of Elephant Park will be delivered in 2017 and will have a play area, meadow planting and a performance area as well as a large central grassed area with mature London Plane trees. The remainder of Elephant Park will be delivered along with the buildings surrounding the park.

Salisbury Row Park

A garden park with many attractive flower beds and trees, Salisbury Row Park was reclaimed when housing was demolished in the '70s and is now part of the Salisbury Row Streets for People Scheme. You can see foxes, bats and many species of birds in the Wild Life area.

Surrey Square Park

A much-loved local park, a little green oasis in the middle of the high density housing of the Aylesbury and Kinglake estates, just a stone's throw from the Old Kent Road. It is 1.2 hectares of open 'breathing' space.

Victory Community Park

Encouraging wildlife is a theme of the planting throughout the site. Its nature garden is used by Victory School during school hours. It also has a world plant border, picnic tables, a playground and a games pitch for football, basketball and table tennis.

Nursery Row Park

Nursery Row Park is the oldest park in East Walworth – the original site where the Plane trees were acquired in 1897.

It is a great place for play, exercise or enjoy the wildflower meadow, community orchard and the shade of its many mature London Plane trees.
